What you need is a humider to humidity your bedroom, and you can make one yourself which will do the business a whole lot better than any apparatus you can buy.

Trouble is, you're a mollycoddle and you don't know it. At least you didn't until you read this. You have the great delusion which all mollycoddles have all the time. You imagway to keep warm is to keep cool. Hippokrates says so. I say so. Hippokrates and I agree pretty well on most subjects. Hipprokates said 2200 years ago: "Cool water warms, and warm water cools." People who take morning sponge, plungs or shower baths know that Hippokrates and I are right about that.
